John Wood Community College offers two nursing programs including the practical nurse certificate which prepares students to take the NCLEX exam to become a Licensed Practical Nurse (LPN) and the associate degree in nursing program which prepares students for the RN NCLEX exam to become a Registered Nurse (RN). Both of these nursing programs are designed to prepare students to become competent nurses who provide holistic care to people across the lifespan and in a variety of healthcare settings. The programs offer individuals a variety of options for completion.

Track I (LPN)

Track I is for students wishing to pursue a Practical Nurse certificate (53 semester hours). This track requires that a student successfully complete the required general education courses, first year nursing courses and NUR 190-LPN Scope of Practice. A student exits the program after the first year to obtain a Practical Nurse certificate and sit for the NCLEX-PN exam.

Track II (ADN)

Track II is for students wishing to pursue an Associate Degree in Nursing (ADN). Students have the option to take an additional course, NUR 190-LPN Scope of Practice to be eligible to take the NCLEX-PN exam. These students will still continue on and complete the second year ADN coursework.

Track III (LPN to ADN)

Track III is for the Community LPN already practicing as a Licensed Practical Nurse with a desire to advance his/her career by obtaining an Associate Degree in Nursing. These students would enter into the second year of the ADN program.
